Course Overview

Retail Banking Sales & Service is a comprehensive professional training course designed to equip banking professionals with the knowledge, customer engagement skills, and sales capabilities required to deliver exceptional retail banking services while achieving sustainable business growth. In today's rapidly evolving banking environment, retail banking professionals are expected to balance customer satisfaction, regulatory compliance, operational excellence, and sales performance to build long-term customer relationships and maximize customer lifetime value.

This course provides participants with a structured understanding of retail banking products and services, customer relationship management, consultative selling, customer needs analysis, branch sales strategies, customer service excellence, complaint handling, cross-selling, up-selling, customer retention, and service quality management. Participants will learn how to identify customer financial needs, recommend suitable banking solutions, and create personalized experiences that strengthen trust, loyalty, and long-term engagement.

The program also explores the integration of Retail Banking Sales & Service with customer experience management, digital banking, branch operations, consumer lending, deposit products, payment services, wealth solutions, regulatory compliance, operational risk management, and performance management. Participants will develop practical skills in customer communication, sales planning, relationship building, service recovery, negotiation, customer profitability analysis, and performance measurement to improve both customer outcomes and organizational performance.

Through practical case studies, role-playing exercises, branch sales simulations, customer journey workshops, and interactive discussions, participants will strengthen their ability to deliver outstanding customer service, increase product penetration, improve sales effectiveness, and build lasting customer relationships. By the end of the course, participants will be equipped to implement

Retail Banking Sales & Service strategies that enhance customer satisfaction, improve branch productivity, increase revenue, and support sustainable banking success.

Objectives

- Analyze Retail Banking Sales & Service principles and evaluate their contribution to customer satisfaction and business performance by the end of the course.
