Course Overview

Tax Policy, Legislation & Fiscal Governance Training Course is a practical program designed to strengthen the ability of professionals to understand, assess, and apply tax policy and legislation within a sound fiscal governance framework.

The course connects tax policy with revenue objectives, economic priorities, legislative development, compliance, administration, and public financial management. It focuses on how tax decisions affect government revenues, businesses, investment, and overall fiscal sustainability.

Participants will examine practical approaches to tax policy analysis, legislative design, regulatory implementation, tax administration, fiscal risk management, and governance. The program emphasizes structured analysis and practical decision-making rather than purely theoretical taxation concepts.

The course is particularly relevant to government institutions, ministries, tax authorities, public finance organizations, and professionals involved in tax policy, legislation, fiscal planning, revenue management, and regulatory affairs.

Objectives

- Analyze the key principles and objectives of modern tax policy.
- Evaluate tax legislation and its impact on revenue and economic activity.
- Develop structured approaches to tax policy analysis and reform.
- Assess the fiscal impact of proposed tax measures.
- Apply principles of effective tax legislation and regulatory design.
- Identify tax policy risks affecting revenue, compliance, and fiscal sustainability.
- Strengthen tax governance, accountability, and institutional coordination.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of tax administration and compliance frameworks.
- Apply methods for monitoring tax policy and legislative outcomes.
- Develop practical recommendations for improving tax policy and fiscal governance.

Who Should Attend

Tax policy specialists, tax legislation professionals, fiscal policy analysts, revenue officials, government economists, public finance professionals, tax authority personnel, regulatory affairs specialists, and professionals working in ministries of finance and government revenue institutions.
